How Nazis Could Collect Vast Fine Against Jews

By FREDERICK OESCHNER

British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Bulletin

BERLIN, Nov. 17.—The Nazis' $400,000,000 fine against Jews collectively probably represents about one-

The method of collection was not announced, but the following are regarded as possibilities:

- 1—Seizure of Jewish bank accounts.
- 2—Forced sale of Jewish-owned real estate.
- 3—Forced sale of Jewish-owned securities.

All Jewish property has been registered with the authorities, who are in a position to tell instantly what each Jew owns.

A per capita levy, even at the top estimate of Jewish population—500,000—would be impossible, since it would amount to $572 each, and many Jews do not have that much.

Estimates of Jewish wealth range from $2,200,000,000 to $2,600,000,000, of which about $1,000,000,000 is

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill said the House of Commons today that the British Government was "not prepared to consider any proposal for the return of German Jews refugees who have been treated as an object of urgency."

He said the problem had been taken up by the Foreign Office, a number of British colonies, including the governor of Tanganyika, former East Africa, now a British mandate.

He added he hoped to make a statement on the whole question next week.

B. C. Not Doing Badly

Admittedly, the province's sinking fund is shockingly short, and, obviously, obligations required of it would have been substantially reduced if it had been possible to perform miracles with the general financial and economic condition of the country. But if hypothetical conditions produce little satisfaction, it can be said without apology that British Columbia has been better governed for the past few years than other provinces of the Dominion. As Mr. Hart explained to the Legislature, the sinking fund for our entire debt of $104,424,000 now stands at $37,164,000. The Maritime Provinces, with combined debts of $188,151,000, have combined sinking funds of $17,850,000; Quebec, with a debt of $337,376,000, $33,331,000; the Prairie provinces, with a debt of $498,418,000, $37,164,000. Still more significant is the comparison with the Dominion, with a direct debt of $3,694,412,000, whose sinking fund stands at $65,657,000—Victoria Times.

The League

Ten years ago General Smuts could still point to something. The League has had a rough passage these last ten years. Jeered at, sneered at, neglected, abused and misused, it has not been able to do what it was intended to do. Its professed friends have been mostly apathetic and sometimes false. . . . But it has the grandest of the impossible, and it has moved on with the benign stars.

What can Smuts say today of the fate that has befallen the League? He is the author of the Peace Treaty, the Covenant of the League? It still endures, despised and rejected of men. It may continue to exist, provided it remains no more than a paper treaty. It may be used by those two human qualities of stupidity and treachery which have combined to destroy the League. From man might have found the everlasting arms.

What mankind won on Nov. 11, 1918, was not peace. It was only a truce, a temporary armistice—and at what a price.—Winthrop Free Press.

Whither Russia?

One thing may be true in the case of this New Russia. It seeks nothing from any other land. It is not a territory, it is a people. It pleads no right, it is proud to stand by itself, proud to rely upon its own strength. That strength may prove to be illusory. It has never yet been put to the test. But even impartial critics of the Russian revolution have admitted that it has been a great success. It has been a great success. It has been a great success.

While it is not perhaps encouraging, from the viewpoint of other nations who desire to be friendly, to find Russia starting her third decade in the field of scholarship, art and science—as they are. But what they apparently do not realize is that they are depriving Germany also of the credit which would be won for it by some of these students in years to come. No race has a more natural talent and to bar any from the places of learning is a crime against the nation as well as the race.

Japan is "On the Spot"

It is pointed out at Washington, no doubt for Japan's benefit, that neither Japan nor China has a legal right to abrogate, nullify or vary the Nine Power treaty, by which the territorial integrity of China is guaranteed and that country is bound to maintain an "open door" through which foreign countries may trade on equal terms. Further, that this particular treaty cannot be "denounced" by any signatory. It can only be destroyed or changed by collective action of all the signatories—which may include Canada, though this Dominion was one of the latter.

Premier Konoze ten days ago informed the world he plans to re-make the Orient in a way expressly forbidden at every step by the Nine Power treaty. Hence this reminder from Washington that the treaty is not subject to cancellation or change at the whim of Japan, or China, or both of them.

The Premier's announcement helps to make plain why the Washington note of October 6th to Tokyo has not been answered, to answer it in the terms of the announcement would be an open demand that the other powers surrender alike their rights and their obligations under the treaty. The speech of Mr. Hull at Washington was a reasoned, polite, but firm declaration that the United States is not to be pushed out of China in this summary fashion.

Construed together, the unanswered note, the declaration at Tokyo, and the response from Washington clarify the Far Eastern situation completely. The question at issue is whether Japan will, or will not, respect its covenant. The Premier's announcement seems to mean that it won't; perhaps that it will not even ask the other powers to revoke or rescind the treaty, but take its own will for the deed.

Editorial Notes

In expelling Jewish students from the universities, the Nazis of course suppose they are depriving this class of German citizens of the opportunity to gain distinction in the fields of scholarship, art and science—as they are. But what they apparently do not realize is that they are depriving Germany also of the credit which would be won for it by some of these students in years to come. No race has a more natural talent and to bar any from the places of learning is a crime against the nation as well as the race.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWTER

Leslie Hore-Belisha, British Secretary for War, has made candid disclosure of defects in British air defences during the recent visit to Czechoslovakia, which led to the dismantlement of Czechoslovakia in the interest of peace. While insisting that despite the deficiencies "we should have rendered quite a good account of ourselves," he had to admit in confession, the Minister admitted that "some of the guns were without dials because the firm which made them thought it was not worth the cost of the dials." Some predictors were out of order. Electric storage batteries were in some cases run down, although other units at the same time had spare batteries and charging plants.

The old story of "maddening through" in Soviet Russia, officers responsible for the state of affairs could be "maddened," in Germany and Italy they were "purged." It was a bit as if they hadn't any warning. Any newspaper editor could have told them—as many did. For all its modernization, the force on which the Empire depends for defence still suffers from too much ball-park training, too much dress uniform and starched shirt and too much social fold-down of the (anti-aircraft) guns were without dials because the firm which made them went bankrupt. Some predictors were out of order—some predictors were out of order—some predictors were out of order.

France, which was pledged to support Czechoslovakia by solemn treaty, was primarily to blame for the sacrifice of Czechoslovakia. But there is no excuse in a country so rich as England, for aerial defences to lapse into inefficiency. With dictators in Europe making armies and breathing through the nostrils of the Kaiser, the Spanish cities bombed from the skies, some of the (anti-aircraft) guns were without dials because the firm which made them went bankrupt. Some predictors were out of order—some predictors were out of order—some predictors were out of order.

A society can be abetted for sleeping on duty. Why not an officer who allows the aerial defences of the capital to lapse into inexcusable inefficiency?

Discovery of the culpable negligence of certain defence officials may result in efficiency being restored to the British air force. In the London parks and elsewhere are to be extended, covered with concrete and grass, and kept in readiness for future use.

A WAR SECRET COMES TO LIGHT
The 17 anti-aircraft guns in the world's most powerful anti-aircraft gun in the world, which can fire 12 shots a minute to a ceiling of 30,000 feet is being turned out in numbers, augmented by a heavier and more powerful gun of 4.5 calibre.

Intimation of the 4.5 anti-aircraft gun—the most powerful anti-aircraft gun in the world—was given casually to a House committee considering contracts. A brief sentence says: "In the case of the anti-aircraft gun mounting, we have eliminated subcontracts."

Was this new gun what Hore-Belisha had in mind when he said "despite these deficiencies, we have eliminated subcontracts?"

Religion Day By Day
By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

ONE BY ONE
Life today is trouble for many persons. They are troubled by the world's frightening aspect, with war and social upheaval hovering ominously over the horizon just about their heads. They are troubled by the present instability of old moral standards. They are concerned over the disintegration of religion. They are fearful for the younger generation.

Most of all they are beset by a feeling of personal helplessness. The things that are wrong seem too vast a scale for any one individual to amend them.

Yet the whole world is but a collection of single persons. Each of us has a part to play toward world betterment for the good of us to take steadily for New Testament standards of life and conduct. One by one—according to Christ's way—we may make over the blundering, wasted world.

Kodak vs. O. Lord with a vivid sense of the power of one Christian standing valiantly for Thee, at all times and in all places. May we know that we are God's majesty. Amen.

What Is Your Opinion?

A great many interesting letters received by the Editor of The Bulletin are too long for publication. Our correspondents would do well to study brevity. A limit of 350 words must be insisted on.

The Same Road

Editor, Bulletin: I was impressed by the similarity of the language used in Britain's Social Credit and in the present system of the present system. Both state that the present distributing system is based on the principle of "the machine age" in which we live. They both would like the machine to do the work and history of the machine to be the same.

Although Technology does not mention how the change will be made from the present system to Social Credit, it does mention that Social Credit would take control of the medium of exchange and service to mankind. This would be impossible if the change were made by different goods and services would be recognized and the means of production and service would be a price, or value.

Some of the change there may be some taken from medium whereby a balance could be kept shown at all times the relation between what we produce and what we consume.

Sooner or later a system will evolve whereby the machine must pay humanity to consume what they produce and use the services they make possible.

Here in Alberta we are striving to put into effect a system that will better the conditions which make many live in poverty. We have taken the life as a province and should pay our way instead of borrowing from a system that is worn out and thereby prolonging the present unmitigated state of poverty in the midst of plenty. To do this we must all contribute.

At present the only way is through taxing those within our province. But when we as a whole read our own papers and see that our taxes are raised, we forget that we are Albertans. Who will pay to keep our province in the red?

Regardless of what we think, a change is taking place and whether it is Technology or Social Credit, the goal is the same. When the minds of men are ready for a change we will see it. Many good people today are still in the dark. They are waiting for years, due to force of habit, in this intelligent? What we need is education and for the last time Social Credit and Technology have both contributed forces and work together. The goal is the same although the means of doing it may differ slightly.

Erskine Farm
Every Morning

A flock of magpies come to an Erskine farm every morning just about daylight. Flying one by one from a nearby post, they light where broods have been chopped for the night before. There are about 20 birds in the flock. They appear tame and walk about pecking just like tame hens. This has been a daily occurrence since the leaves fell. Despite their unsavory reputation, the birds find a pleasing note of color to the winter landscape.

COOK EXPLAINS HEALTH SCHEME TO COUNCILLORS

Village and municipal councillors were interested listeners when the formation of a municipal health unit was explained by E. H. Cook, physical culture expert, here in connection with the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training course.

The plan, which would include seven neighboring municipalities, provides for the hiring of one doctor aided by a staff of competent nurses for the prevention of disease and the fostering of physical fitness in the "health unit," especially for school children.

It is provided in the plan that 30 per cent of the cost, which would be approximately $10,000, would be borne by the provincial government, the rest raised by adding one mill on tax evaluation in the seven municipal districts concerned. They are Bonnyville, Lindberg, Laurier, Ashmont, St. Luna and St. Vincent.

Incendiarism is Suspected Cause Beaverdam Blaze

Incendiarism is believed to be the cause of a blaze which destroyed P. J. Beaverdam, a general store, Bonnyville, 30 miles east of Bonnyville, recently.

The clerk who discovered the blaze alleged he had surprised an unknown person fleeing from the scene of the fire and that he had followed him to a nearby bush, where he escaped.

P. J. Beaverdam, owner of the store, evaluated the loss at over $40,000. No insurance was carried.

No Scarcity Deer In Bonnyville Area

Deer in the district east of Bonnyville are reported more plentiful than any time in a decade. Usually a timid animal, they are said to be bold and often caught on the feed of a farmer's haystack in barnyard or meadow.

A commercial traveller from Edmonton, without a gun or license, reports seeing ten at different points along the highway between Bonnyville and Cold Lake, last week (P.S. He returned with a gun and a license but did not see any).

Many Bonnyville Students Attend Training School

With 30 students already enrolled and with the figures expected to pass 100 mark by the time all applications are in, the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training school was officially opened in Bonnyville Monday.

Official welcome to lecturers was tendered by J. A. Dutton, mayor of Bonnyville, J. O. Binette, president of the school board, and J. Dargie.

SHORT COURSE SCHOOL OPENS AT STETTLER

Short course schools, conducted by the Department of Extension, University of Alberta, were here in connection with the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training course.

The courses of instruction are free and open to young people from farms, 18 to 30 years of age.

The course for young men will cover practical agriculture—soil, field crops, livestock, farm mechanics, poultry, dairying, horticulture, recreation and community organization.

The course for young women will cover foods, nutrition, clothing, health, practical handicrafts, poultry, horticulture, recreation and community leadership.

It is expected that the Stettler school will draw young people from a radius of 50 miles.

Those living within a few miles may live at home and come to the school each day. Those from a distance will live in temporary dormitories in Stettler, which will be under the supervision of a dean of women and a dean of men.

By organizing supplies on a co-operative basis, a community dining room may be established for all students who wish to take advantage of the service, while students wishing to board may do so.

Rev. T. R. Davies of Stettler is acting as secretary of the local committee.

ANTHONY EDEN SAYS LIBERTY AT DISCOUNT

Former Foreign Secretary Scores Recent Racial Incidents

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary, last night declared that liberty was "at a discount in many lands" during an address delivered at a banquet of the Commonwealth Society.

In an appended allusion to the racial incident in Germany, Mr. Eden remarked his audience that religious and racial tolerance was "a must" in some countries, but added that this must not shake British or Welsh faith in fundamental ideals.

Freedom and tolerance in creed, Mr. Eden stated, are the essence of civilization.

EULOGIZES ROOSEVELT

The words of President Roosevelt and Hendrick Collip, Netherlands premier, regarding the new anti-Nazi movement in Germany were found "a ready echo" in Great Britain, the former foreign secretary said.

Mr. Eden, who resigned from the cabinet in protest against Prime Minister Chamberlain's foreign policy, mentioned no anti-Nazi movement in Germany, but termed "a great tragedy in human history."

He commended the action of Mr. Roosevelt and the Netherlands premier and then declared:

"Our own government may rest assured that in any action that they may take they will find the full support of every section of the English people."

CITES OLD CONDITIONS

In the address, which was broadcast to North America, Mr. Eden sketched the century's old ties binding England and Wales and reminded his audience that "Wales gave us our rulers at a turning point in our history. Referring to the accession of the Welsh Tudors to the throne he said that a greater dynasty ever ruled our land."

He drew cheers when he declared, "Whether on our 1,000 islands or in the future of the British people."

After alluding to the "events that have stirred us all to the deep," he told his audience, "Despite all anxiety, let me conclude on a note of confidence."

He expressed hope that some of the present clouds hanging over Europe "would have rolled away" if the society holds its next annual banquet.

He cited the causes for which Britain had fought through the centuries, asserting that these "cannot be allowed to perish now."

The plan, which would include seven neighboring municipalities, provides for the hiring of one doctor aided by a staff of competent nurses for the prevention of disease and the fostering of physical fitness in the "health unit," especially for school children.

It is provided in the plan that 30 per cent of the cost, which would be approximately $10,000, would be borne by the provincial government, the rest raised by adding one mill on tax evaluation in the seven municipal districts concerned. They are Bonnyville, Lindberg, Laurier, Ashmont, St. Luna and St. Vincent.

Incendiarism is Suspected Cause Beaverdam Blaze

Incendiarism is believed to be the cause of a blaze which destroyed P. J. Beaverdam, a general store, Bonnyville, 30 miles east of Bonnyville, recently.

The clerk who discovered the blaze alleged he had surprised an unknown person fleeing from the scene of the fire and that he had followed him to a nearby bush, where he escaped.

P. J. Beaverdam, owner of the store, evaluated the loss at over $40,000. No insurance was carried.

No Scarcity Deer In Bonnyville Area

Deer in the district east of Bonnyville are reported more plentiful than any time in a decade. Usually a timid animal, they are said to be bold and often caught on the feed of a farmer's haystack in barnyard or meadow.

A commercial traveller from Edmonton, without a gun or license, reports seeing ten at different points along the highway between Bonnyville and Cold Lake, last week (P.S. He returned with a gun and a license but did not see any).

Many Bonnyville Students Attend Training School

With 30 students already enrolled and with the figures expected to pass 100 mark by the time all applications are in, the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training school was officially opened in Bonnyville Monday.

Official welcome to lecturers was tendered by J. A. Dutton, mayor of Bonnyville, J. O. Binette, president of the school board, and J. Dargie.

ANTHONY EDEN SAYS LIBERTY AT DISCOUNT

Former Foreign Secretary Scores Recent Racial Incidents

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary, last night declared that liberty was "at a discount in many lands" during an address delivered at a banquet of the Commonwealth Society.

In an appended allusion to the racial incident in Germany, Mr. Eden remarked his audience that religious and racial tolerance was "a must" in some countries, but added that this must not shake British or Welsh faith in fundamental ideals.

Freedom and tolerance in creed, Mr. Eden stated, are the essence of civilization.

EULOGIZES ROOSEVELT

The words of President Roosevelt and Hendrick Collip, Netherlands premier, regarding the new anti-Nazi movement in Germany were found "a ready echo" in Great Britain, the former foreign secretary said.

Mr. Eden, who resigned from the cabinet in protest against Prime Minister Chamberlain's foreign policy, mentioned no anti-Nazi movement in Germany, but termed "a great tragedy in human history."

He commended the action of Mr. Roosevelt and the Netherlands premier and then declared:

"Our own government may rest assured that in any action that they may take they will find the full support of every section of the English people."

CITES OLD CONDITIONS

In the address, which was broadcast to North America, Mr. Eden sketched the century's old ties binding England and Wales and reminded his audience that "Wales gave us our rulers at a turning point in our history. Referring to the accession of the Welsh Tudors to the throne he said that a greater dynasty ever ruled our land."

He drew cheers when he declared, "Whether on our 1,000 islands or in the future of the British people."

After alluding to the "events that have stirred us all to the deep," he told his audience, "Despite all anxiety, let me conclude on a note of confidence."

He expressed hope that some of the present clouds hanging over Europe "would have rolled away" if the society holds its next annual banquet.

He cited the causes for which Britain had fought through the centuries, asserting that these "cannot be allowed to perish now."
